Allowable Costs for Sponsored Projects

Summary/Purpose: Principal investigators and their departments have ultimate responsibility for defending all costs charged to their sponsored projects. If a charge to a sponsored project is determined to be unallowable, the department and/or the project director will be responsible for reimbursing the project for the expense.

As an institution that receives federal funds, the university is obligated to comply with all applicable federal regulations. Some expenses are non-reimbursable by the federal government. The United States Office of Management and Budget (OMB) guidance at 2 CFR Part 200 Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards (Uniform Guidance) identifies such unallowable costs for which the university may not request reimbursement, in whole or in part, from the federal government. University employees have a fiduciary responsibility to ensure that the university is in compliance with these regulations by properly identifying unallowable costs.

Awards issued prior to December 26, 2014 will follow OMB Circular A-21: Cost Principles for Educational Institutions.
