Personal Safety

Summary/Purpose: This policy explains the expectation Student Housing and Residence Life has for students in regards to personal safety in the residence halls, and defines the possible sanctions for violations of the policy.

Residents should not engage in activities that might place themselves or others at risk of bodily harm. This includes, but is not limited to, propping open exterior doors; throwing things out of windows; sitting on window ledges; entering roof areas; or using bicycles, rollerblades or skateboards within any University building. These behaviors may result in disciplinary action, an administrative room change or termination of a student's housing agreement based upon the severity of the incident.
